

Advice 14-2012 Evaluation of the study of the CODA/CERVA “Proposal for an adaptation of the Aujeszky’s disease surveillance program in domestic pigs”.

The Scientific Committee of the FASFC was asked to evaluate a study regarding the adaptation of the Aujeszky’s disease surveillance program in domestic pigs.

The Scientific Committee has formulated a number of remarks to optimize this study. The second version of this study, which took these remarks into account, was evaluated favorably.
