

Advice 25-2015 of the Scientific Committee of the FASFC on the evaluation of the chapter “Packaging material for food manufacturers”

The Scientific Committee received the request to evaluate the chapter "Packaging material for food manufacturers", which will be added to the self-checking guides for the food industry, with particular emphasis on the hazard analysis section.

The Scientific Committee is of the opinion that the guide is clearly and correctly written. The main remarks concern the elaboration of the migration risk. Additional clarification of the approach followed for assessing the potential risks and the inclusion of a list of the most common and the most serious hazards and of a number of possible critical limits, risk management measures and corrective actions would improve the applicability of the guide.
